

Sisters Today
December 1989

Confidences
John 4:29

...he told me everything I've ever done, bared the shame, the guilt, that clung like napalm to my soul, shared those awful Wednesday nights I neither dared recall alone nor trusted anyone to know, caressed the dirty child I tried to kill, kissed what none had touched except to violate, sat beside me in the raw and gaping hole that nothing ever filled...